Welcome to Pikeville College . . .

“I Will Lift Up Mine Eyes to the Hills . . .”

Scouting parties of all descriptions were not unusual in the days of the coming of the white man into the beautiful game-filled valleys of the Kentucky mountains. First came the Indian braves searching for game. Then came Daniel Boone and the settlers. About that same time, George Washington, a young Virginian, surveying new lands in the Ohio Valley, mapped the uncharted treasure trove of history and romantic tradition known as the Big Sandy Valley. Later, as the nation was held in the death grip of the Civil War, parties of both the Union and the Confederacy roamed the valley in search of food for the warring armies.

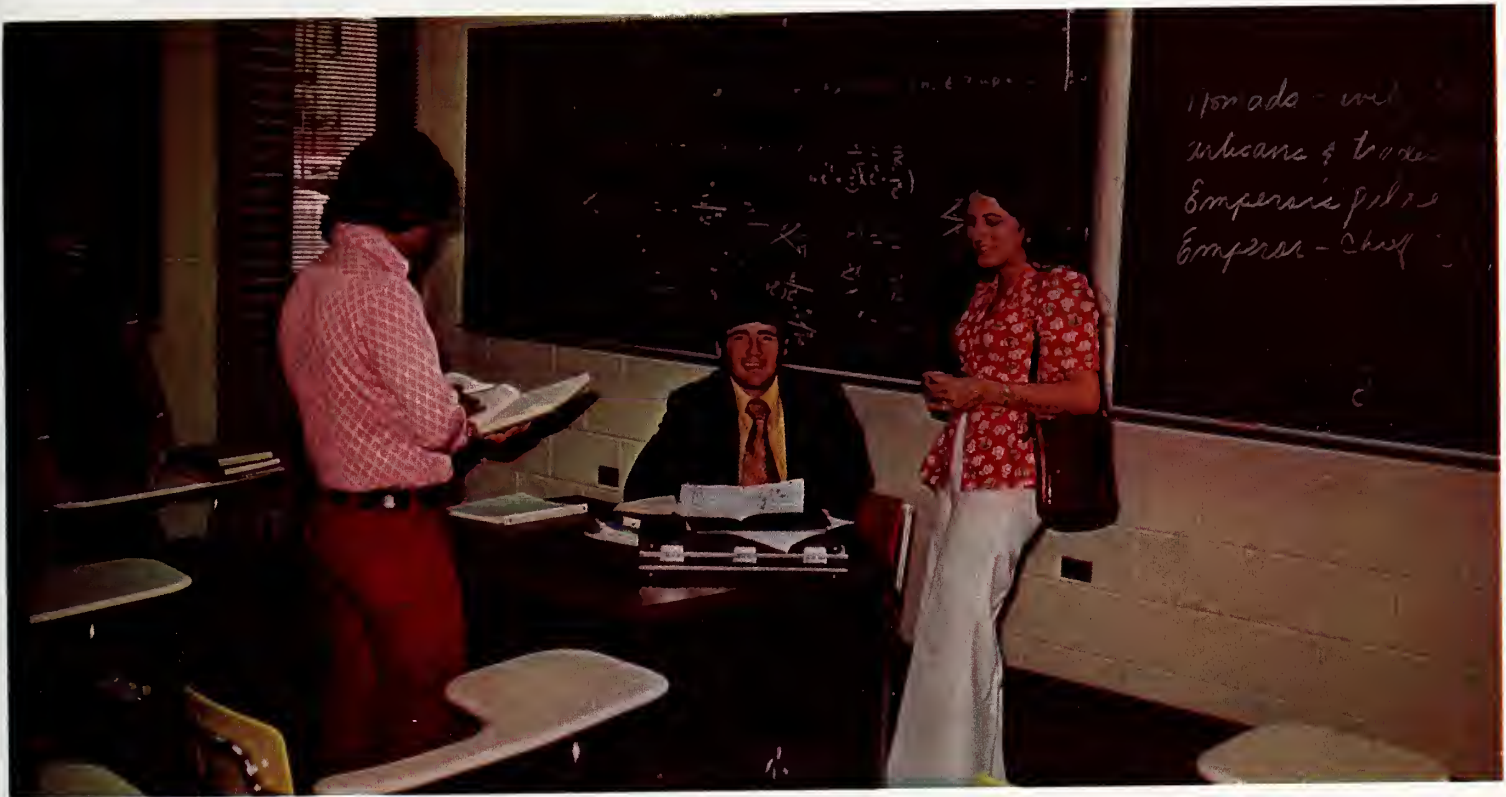

But it was in 1887 that there came into the valley another scouting party, whose entrance was to change the destiny of the whole area more than its predecessors had done. None before had had the hope and vision of Dr. W. C. Condit of Ashland, Kentucky, and Dr. Samuel B. Alderson of Maysville. These two men rode on horseback exploring the Appalachian Mountain area because members of the Ebenezer Presbytery (of the Presbyterian Church U.S.A.) were concerned that some of America's finest people were being neglected both in educational and spiritual development. To the people of Eastern Kentucky, for centuries isolated in the fastness of these rugged mountains, came Drs. Condit and Alderson, joined now by Dr. James P. Hendricks of Flemingsburg. They found homes that welcomed them. Men and women eagerly encouraged them to come into the mountains to establish a Christian school. After many long and searching trips, they decided that the natural center of the region was Pikeville, then a village of about three hundred people.

Milestone 85

In 1974 Pikeville College celebrates its eighty-fifth anniversary. Looking back on the first eighty-five years one sees a steady growth brought about by the vigor and determination of people associated with the college. Now Pikeville College looks toward the next eighty-five years with this same vigor and determination that have helped to make it one of the leading private colleges in Kentucky.

The members of the first Board of Trustees were ever alive to the interests of the school. They were Dr. Condit, the Rev. W. S. Fulton, D.D., Mr. W. M. Connolly, Mr. John Simpson, Mr. James H. Hatcher, Mr. Charles M. Parsons, and Mrs. F. B. Trusell. The records of the college reveal constantly the devotion and wisdom of the unusual body of trustees. The possibilities of the school touched their imaginations and most of them gave generously of their time and means to its support.

By 1889 a site had been secured in Pikeville and a school building erected. In the fall the school opened under the name of Pikeville Collegiate Institute, with the Reverend David Blyth as principal and also pastor of the Presbyterian Church. Mr. Blyth was a man of great energy, and during the three years of incumbency, the school made rapid progress and took first rank among the best schools of its grade in Eastern Kentucky. Hendricks Hall was erected during Mr. Blyth's time of service. Unfortunately, a severe attack of typhoid fever left him unable to continue the work.

Unfavorable conditions throughout the nation slowed the progress of the institution until 1896. During the principalships of the Rev. Harvey Hammett and the Rev. T. M. Cornelison, times were difficult and slow progress was made. The future of the institution was assured, however, as the devotion and personality of the Rev. James F. Record began to express themselves following his coming as principal in 1899. During the next twelve years attendance practically quadrupled. "The Derriana" was given by Mr. John A. Simpson of Cincinnati in memory of his sister, and progress was made toward introduction of a college curriculum. In 1911, Dr. Record resigned and removed to Arizona in the hope of helping Mrs. Record recover her health. The Rev. J. P. Whitehead assumed the presidency of the college in 1911, and served until 1915, when Dr. Record returned.

When Dr. Record resumed the presidency of the institution, which was now invariably spoken of as "The College," he was beginning a term of uninterrupted service lasting seventeen years. In 1918, one student pursued college courses; fourteen years later the college enrollment was 366. In 1925, the preparatory department was admitted to membership in the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, and the junior college department became a member in 1931. The Administration Building was built in 1926, with Wickham Chapel attached. Also in 1926, a young new teacher came to Pikeville College — Miss Mary Inglis Spilman, whose career of service to the college ended at her death in 1972. In 1928, Wickham Hall was added to the campus on the hill. Though Dr. Record was made president emeritus by action of the Board of Trustees in September, 1932, his counsel was not withdrawn from the college until he passed away on May 25, 1935.

It is difficult to estimate the influence of the gifts of the devoted friends of the college throughout Dr. Record's administration. Mrs. Delos A. Wickham, of New York, presented Wickham Chapel with its fine Estey pipe organ, and Wickham Hall, a dormitory for men, to stand perpetually as a living memorial to Delos O. Wickham, her husband. In addition to these buildings erected by her, the institution was bequeathed a considerable portion of Mrs. Wickham's estate at her death in 1933. Mr. William Thaw, of Pittsburgh, was another constant friend of the college, being a very generous donor to the Administration Building. The Women's Missionary societies of the Presbytery greatly encouraged Pikeville College through their contributions and interest, and Dr. Condit, successor to Dr. Hendricks as synodical superintendent, was another loyal supporter and constant visitor of the institution. The daughters of Dr. Condit, Mrs. Oscar Henthorne, Miss Mary Ford Condit, and Mrs. Lucien Waggener, also expressed their interest and love of the college through their gifts which made possible the purchase in 1928 of the Andrew Auxier residence which was used as the President's home until 1955.

Upon Dr. Record's retirement, Dean Frank D. McClelland was made acting president and was elected president in October, 1933. Dr. McClelland served until October 1937, and throughout the year following, the college functioned without a president. Mr. Norman A. Chrisman, treasurer of the institution, devoted much of his time to the college, serving in many capacities, as acting president without the actual title. During this year, notable expansion of the library facilities was effected through the generosity of Mrs. N. A. (Lorraine Bowles) Chrisman, Mrs. Josephine Bowles Kirk, and Mr. H. C. Bowles, in memory of their mother, Mrs. Nona Connolly Bowles, who was a member of the first graduating class of the preparatory department.

Dean A. A. Page assumed the duties of acting president of the college in October, 1940, and was elected president a year later. Notable progress continued under the able leadership of Dr. Page. Attendance increased after the difficult days of the war years, and the curriculum was strengthened to the point where the college was able to expand in the fall of 1955 into a third year of college work, with the addition of the fourth year in 1956. In 1944, through the generosity of Mrs. J. D. Francis, a graduate of the Academy and a trustee of the college, a 1,000 acre farm was purchased and added to the facilities of the college. In 1950, old Hendricks Hall was remodeled into five apartments for married faculty. In the spring of 1960, a four-unit apartment house for faculty, The Gillespie House, was ready for occupancy and in the fall of 1961 Condit Hall for women and Memorial Hall for men including a new cafeteria were opened. In use for the first time in the fall of 1962 was the Record Memorial Building containing Faith Chapel, O'Rear-Robinson Library, five classrooms, and faculty offices.

Dr. Page retired as president December 31, 1962 and became president emeritus on January 1, 1963. Dr. B. H. Jarman, Professor of Education at George Washington University, was elected president and assumed office February 1, 1963. Dr. Jarman resigned as president June 30, 1965. The Board of Trustees appointed Dr. Rediford Dameron, Academic Dean since 1957, as Acting President.

In May of 1967, Dr. Thomas H. Johns assumed the presidency of the College. He served for two years and resigned June 30, 1969. The Board of Trustees elected Dr. Robert S. Cope, Vice President for Academic Affairs of the College, to succeed Dr. Johns and he assumed office July 1, 1969. Dr. Cope received the bachelor's degree from the College of Wooster and the master's and doctor's degrees from The Ohio State University. He has served as Professor of History at Thiel College and Pennsylvania State University. In administrative capacities, Dr. Cope has served as Vice President of Thiel College, Registrar and Dean of Administration at the College of Wooster.

In 1971, Pikeville College introduced a new program which was to be one of the first of its kind in the nation and one of the most successful in the history of the college — Mining Technology. The first Associate of Science Degrees in Mining Technology were awarded in May, 1973. Founder's Day 1972, "a great day for Eastern Kentucky," in the words of Representative Carl Perkins, marked the dedication of the four-million-dollar Everett F. Armington Science Learning Center. In the fall term of 1973, Pikeville College initiated two more new programs, Industrial Technology and Teacher Corps.

Thus Pikeville College grows to fulfill the vision of its founders in meeting the educational and spiritual needs of this once isolated mountain area. From a campus of three acres with one building to one of twenty-five acres with more than thirty-five buildings and a 1,000 acre farm; from a faculty of one to a faculty of over forty; from a student body of three to one of over 600; the college continues to expand its influence for God and country in these lovely hills and pleasant valleys peopled by some of the finest stock of men in the United States.

PIKEVILLE COLLEGE students from Pikeville, Ky., journeyed to Hanover to help out in the tornado and were assigned to remove equipment from the demolished Southwestern schools.

11 PC Students Aid Victims Of Recent Tornado

Eleven Pikeville College students were among thousands of rescue workers helping tornado devastated areas of Southern Indiana.

The college students left classes at the school to aid in the rescue and clean-up chores after one student, Bob Manaugh 1973-74 was a year of rebuilding for the Bears, under the leadership of a new coach, Wayne Martin. Significant progress was made during the year, and the Bears made good showings against very stiff competition which included Kentucky State and Tennessee State. The Tennessee State game was one of the highlights of the year, with the team and cheerleaders flying to Nashville.

May 21, 1974

As I prepare this final spread, it seems difficult to believe that my final Highlander is ready to make that long journey to Dallas for publication. My philosophy on the yearbook has always been, in the words of the late Gordon Caldwell, "it should be a record of this year at this school," and we have tried our best to make Highlander '74 just that. It feels strange now to be running around campus without a camera around my neck because the old Konica has become so much a part of my attire. We have tried to present a "slice of life" at Pikeville College and we hope you enjoyed the memories we have shared.

There are many people who have contributed to The Highlander since I did the 1971 edition, and I want to thank a few of them here.

First of all is my good friend Everett Young. It was Everett and another old friend, Bob Miller, who first gave me "shutterbug fever" and I have never been the same since. Everett has donated freely of his time, energy, and equipment for the yearbook — one typical example was the time when he and Ye Editor climbed atop Signature Rock to do some photography for last year's book. Without Everett, the 1973 and 1974 Highlanders would not have been possible.

Next is my faithful roommate, Joe Montebello, who had the monumental task of enduring the yearbook and me for five semesters. Joe was always in a convenient position to be roped into helping me, and that frequently happened. I could never have made it without his assistance.

The late Gordon Caldwell, Mr. Russ Rivard, Mr. Jerry Rainey, and the staff of Taylor Publishing Company have done a super job for us during the past four years, and we commend them for their work.

The staff of Highlander '74 was great. While I did the lion's share of the photography and layout, they took over the smaller tasks that are equally important and take so much time, freeing me to concentrate on other aspects of the book. Thank you very much, girls (and boy.)

In the spread on student teaching, Sue Reed used the phrases, "... Taking some of it with you ... leaving part of you behind ..." and I know just what she meant. As I leave Pikeville, I take with me many fond memories. There has been a lot of hard work during the past four years but we have had many, many good times, also. I have met many fantastic people in the student body and staff of Pikeville College and I have formed a great number of close friendships; close friendship that is what the small private college experience has meant to me during my stay at Pikeville College.

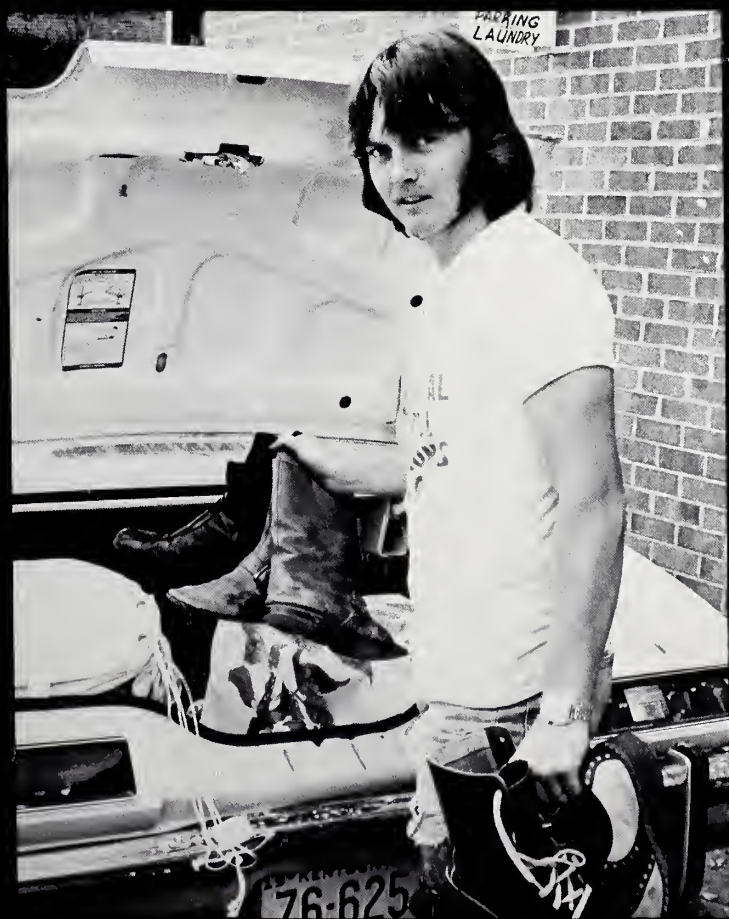

Just as one cannot remain at any particular age all his life, so we receive the baccalaureate degree and move on to new challenges. The college years finally come to a close, just as all things must end someday.

Until we meet again, remember the words of Mrs. Ison's Ancient Philosopher. "Keep your feet on the ground and keep reaching for the sky."
